Description

Upcoming Modern Phuket Villa

This developer has created a smart, comfortable, and cozy villa equipped with everything you need for living in Phuket Thailand.

Today, tourism is reaching a new level of extended journeys, which increases the demand for villas designed specifically for long-term stays.

The concept is a home for living, where everything is thought out to the smallest detail. The priority is to increase the level of functionality, safely, and comfort.

Separate recreation areas at the villa territory make it possible to change location without leaving home. High-quality technical equipment is a prerequisite.

Each villa will be ready for the installation of a smart home system. A large area and a competent layout provide personal space for each family member.

Phuket is an island of eternal summer with a pleasant climate all year round. When designing villas, this developer maximizes the functionality of open space areas for various outdoor recreation spots, maintaining a balance between comfort and surrounding nature.

Design can also be more like phase i is the client would like (very similar to Anchan).
